

- A reported question is when we tell someone what another person asked. To do this, we can use direct speech or indirect speech.
- In indirect speech, we change the question to a statement structure. For example from Do you like to I like.
- Grammar tense changes:
(русью на госке), а также задаю вопросы

| Direct speech      | Reported speech         |
|--------------------|-------------------------|
| Present Simple     | Past simple             |
| Present Continuous | Past Continuous         |
| Present Perfect    | Past Perfect            |
| Past simple        | Past Perfect Simple     |
| Past Continuous    | Past Perfect Continuous |
| Past Perfect       | Past perfect (same)     |

- Time word changes, for example today => that day, tomorrow => the next day or the following day, now => then and others.
- In yes/no questions, we use if or whether to report the question.
For example: Are you going to the dance party?
He asked me if I was going to the dance party.
- In questions with a question word, we use the question word, to report the question. For example: Where did he go?
She asked where he went.
- The most common reporting verb for questions is ask, but we can also use use verbs like enquire, want to know or wonder.
- If the question is making an offer, request or suggestion, we can use a specific verb pattern instead, for example offer + infinitive, ask + infinitive or suggest + ing.
For example: Why don't we check with Joel?
She suggested checking with Joel.
